

Tuskrr's buyer has upgraded everything except the bag, and the brand is built on that gap.

A leather work and everyday bag for the early-career climber in metro India. They changed the phone, the watch and the sneakers. They still carry the company backpack.

IN THE LAUNCH RANGE

- Every choice in this document is judged against that buyer.

Everything here comes from four client inputs, with nothing borrowed from stock.

INPUT	WHAT IT GAVE US	LIMIT
Product names deck (PDF)	Six names, their inspirations, stories and campaign lines; the phrase Linear Wilderness	Moodboard photos inside are reference only; we do not hold the rights
Logo files	Tusker monogram and wordmark, black and white versions	JPEG only; vector files still needed
Six product renders	RIDGE, TRAVERSE, STRATA, CREST, AXIS, CONTOUR	Renders, not photography
Answers from Tuskrr	Price, market, channel, material, warranty, cash on delivery, initials lead time, no Diwali page	Laptop sizes and returns policy not yet given

- The gaps in the last column become the open decisions at the end.

The source files carry five problems the website will inherit unless Tuskrr fixes them.

FINDING	WHY IT MATTERS	FIX
Two wordmarks on the badges	RIDGE and CREST carry the drawn logo; TRAVERSE, STRATA, AXIS and CONTOUR carry plain letters	Use the drawn wordmark on every badge
The gold S is used unevenly	It is on RIDGE, TRAVERSE, STRATA and CONTOUR, missing on CREST and AXIS	Decide if it is a brand mark or a finish
Logo exists only as JPEG	It cannot be printed or scaled cleanly	Commission vector files
Moodboard photos are not ours	They cannot appear on the site	Plan a shoot in Indian cities with Indian models
Products are renders	Renders undersell leather at close range	Photograph the real bags

- None of these blocks the brand world; all of them block launch.

The core buyer is an early-career climber in metro India, still carrying the company backpack.

WHERE

Lives in Bengaluru, Mumbai, Delhi NCR, Pune or Hyderabad. Works in tech, startups, consulting, design, media or finance. Smart-casual, hybrid, never a suit.

HOW THEY LIVE

Commutes, flies between metros for work, gets out of the city at the weekend. Has upgraded the phone, the watch and the sneakers. The bag is still the company-issue black nylon backpack the whole floor carries.

HOW THEY BUY

₹6,000 is affordable but still a decision. They wishlist it, then buy on payday, at a promotion or in a sale. For many, this is their first grown-up bag: the first good thing bought with their own salary.

- Not for hikers, logo-seekers or suit-only formal buyers.

Gifting is Tuskrr's second front door, and it needs its own route through the site.

The gift giver

A partner, sibling or parent marking a first job, a promotion, a birthday or an anniversary. ₹5,000 to ₹7,000 is the sweet spot for a gift that feels significant, and a bag is used every working day, so the giver is remembered every day.

Corporate gifting

STRATA and CONTOUR for Diwali, work anniversaries and client gifts.

On the site: gift-ready box and dust bag, a printed note from the giver, initials embossed as a custom order (ready in 2 weeks), and one enquiry form for corporate orders. No Diwali page.

- The site needs a gift route, not a gift-wrap checkbox.

Two sentences start a sale, and both end in the same feeling.

THE SELF-BUYER

“I’ve levelled up. My bag hasn’t.”

The payoff is not owning the bag. It is the moment a colleague asks, “Where’s that from?”

THE GIFT GIVER

“I see who you’re becoming.”

A gift that goes to every meeting, every flight, every day.

- Both buyers pay for the same thing: pride in who you’re becoming.

“Arrive like you mean it” ties the bag to the moment the buyer cares about: walking into the room.

Arrive like you mean it.

PROMISE

For the person you’re becoming.

WHERE IT LIVES

Under the logo, on the hang tag, the site’s first screen and the end of every Reel.

IN A GIFT NOTE

“New role. Arrive like you mean it.”

The shortlist was “Carry the room”, “Sharp lines. Wild heart.”, “Leave the herd” and “Arrive like you mean it”. Tuskrr chose the last one.

- Run a trademark search at IP India before it is printed.

Tuskrr sounds confident, sharp, warm and a little wild, and it never calls itself premium.

PERSONALITY

IS	IS NOT
Confident	loud
Sharp	corporate
Warm	soft
A little wild	rugged

VOICE RULES

Second person. Talk to them, not about the bag.

Short, declarative lines. No exclamation marks.

Dry wit is welcome. Hype is not.

Never say premium, luxury, crafted with love or elevate.

The price is never a discount story. "Looks far more expensive than it is" is felt, never said.

- Say less than you could, and let the leather carry the price.

Linear Wilderness is already in Tuskrr’s own product deck:
nature makes the lines, Tuskrr gives them structure.

BAG	INSPIRED BY	CAMPAIGN LINE
RIDGE Backpack	terrain	Carry your own direction.
TRAVERSE Weekender	movement	Take the long way. or: Made for the distance between here and there.
STRATA Laptop briefcase	layers	Built in layers.
CREST Backpack	elevation	Rise above ordinary. or: Find your high point.
AXIS Vertical sling	direction	Nothing unnecessary.
CONTOUR Laptop folio	form	Protection, shaped beautifully.

- The product names already tell the landscape story, so the brand can stay in the city.

RIDGE. The stitched channels are the lines.
Supplied render.

Theme one, Linear Wilderness, reads the idea three ways: as a map, as architecture and as a journey.

DIRECTION A

Field Survey

Linear Wilderness, read as a map.

Feels Precise, Curious, Considered, Grounded

DIRECTION B

Quiet Architecture

Linear Wilderness, built as architecture.

Feels Restrained, Exact, Calm, Assured

DIRECTION C

High Ground

Linear Wilderness, walked as a journey.

Feels Warm, Adventurous, Poetic, Human

- These predate the tagline; whichever is kept will carry “Arrive like you mean it.”

Field Survey makes Tuskrr the brand that reads a landscape like a surveyor, then builds its lines into leather.

THE WILD, MEASURED.

PART	IN THIS DIRECTION
Theme	Linear Wilderness
Idea	Linear Wilderness, read as a map. Tuskrr reads a landscape the way a surveyor does: in lines, levels and bearings. Then it builds those lines into leather. Every bag is a sheet in a survey of the wild, and its vertical channels are the contour lines.
Palette	 Survey Paper #ECE8DF, Sheet #F6F3EC, Field Ink #1B1C1A, Slate #2E4A4D, Cognac #8A4722, Bearing Gold #8F6412, Contour #C9C1AF
Type	Archivo (condensed for display), IBM Plex Mono
Signature	The contour. A topographic map runs underneath the brand like a watermark. Every product gets its own sheet, with a sheet number and a reading (terrain, movement, layers), the way a survey map is organised. Every fifth contour is an index line, drawn heavier, as on a real map.
Photography	Aerial terrain, product as specimen, hands and maps
Voice	RIDGE. Sheet 01. Reading: terrain. The lines of a mountain, set in leather. / Surveyed in the wild. Made for the city. / Field note 04: a ridge is where two worlds meet. So is a good backpack.
Website	A legend rail on the left and a scroll of numbered sheets
Watch for	Can drift toward outdoor gear or technology if the leather craft is not kept in front.

- The most ownable system of the three. Every future product gets a sheet and a reading, so the range can grow without new rules.

11 / FIELD SURVEY · Tuskr brand world: internal

Quiet Architecture treats the stitched channel as architecture and lets the city carry the wild.

PART	IN THIS DIRECTION
Theme	Linear Wilderness
Idea	Linear Wilderness, built as architecture. The wild leaves lines behind: in rock, in ridges, in grain. Cities build with the same lines: columns, fluting, facades. Tuskrr stands exactly between the two, and says as little as possible about it.
Palette	 Carbon #121212, Graphite #1E1E1E, Concrete #D8D6D1, Bone #ECEAE6, Stone #9C988F, Brass #C9A24A, Brass Deep #7A5F1E
Type	Instrument Sans (condensed for display)
Signature	The channel. A field of fine vertical lines at the column rhythm of the page, the same rhythm as the stitched channels on the bags. Pages are cut into bands like geological strata. The gold S appears once per view, never more.
Photography	Architecture as landscape, product as sculpture, people in passing
Voice	STRATA. Layered. Built for the working day. / Every line placed. Nothing added. / Fewer things. Better lines.
Website	An index list of names with the product in a pane beside it
Watch for	The wild half of Linear Wilderness can disappear. Without care it becomes generic quiet luxury.

- Reads as premium at first glance, and suits the corporate and gifting pieces (STRATA, CONTOUR).

High Ground tells Tuskrr as a journey, in the warm hour when the land turns to line.

PART	IN THIS DIRECTION
Theme	Linear Wilderness
Idea	Linear Wilderness, walked as a journey. Tuskrr is made for the distance between here and there. Trails, cities, airports, the ridge at the end of the day. This world tells Tuskrr as a journey, in the warm hour when the landscape turns to line.
Palette	 Bark #221610, Bark Light #2E1E16, Sand #EBDDC7, Dry Grass #B9A68C, Terracotta #D0603F, Ember #E39A5B, Dusk #8C6A8E, Terracotta Deep #A2432A
Type	Instrument Serif, Hanken Grotesk
Signature	The ridgeline. Layered silhouettes in dusk colours, back to front, and one elevation line that runs through the site and marks each product as a waypoint on the way up.
Photography	Golden hour and dusk, trails as lines, people in motion
Voice	CREST. Every wild landscape has a high point. Find yours. / Made for the distance between here and there. / The journey leaves the line. You follow it.
Website	Full-screen scenes with an elevation line tracking the scroll
Watch for	Needs real landscape and lifestyle photography to reach its potential. The most expensive world to shoot.

- The most emotional of the three, and it uses the product stories Tuskrr has already written almost word for word.

The Entrance stages every day as a walk into a room, lit by one door of light.

PART	IN THIS DIRECTION
Theme	The Entrance
Idea	Every day has an entrance. Tuskrr is built for it. The lobby. The meeting room. The pitch. Every day has ten seconds when you walk in and people look up. This world is built for those ten seconds.
Palette	 Night #131110, Room #1F1B19, Bone #EFE9E1, Smoke #A39B91, Cognac #C27442, Brass #D1A650, Threshold #F6E3BD
Type	Instrument Sans (condensed for display)
Signature	The threshold. A single vertical band of warm light, the width of one stitched channel, runs through the brand like a door left ajar. Products stand in it. Headlines sit beside it. The gold S is the only other thing allowed to glow.
Photography	Walking in, light on leather, the city at night
Voice	STRATA. For the room where it gets decided. / Arrive like you mean it. / Ten seconds. That's how long the door takes to close behind you.
Website	A numbered index; tap a name and the bag steps into the light
Watch for	Dark, cinematic pages can tip into cold. The warmth has to come from the leather and the light.

- Delivers the tagline with the most weight. It looks and feels like an entrance.

The four directions differ in structure, not only in colour, so choosing between them is a real choice.

	FIELD SURVEY	QUIET ARCHITECTURE	HIGH GROUND	THE ENTRANCE
Theme	Linear Wilderness	Linear Wilderness	Linear Wilderness	The Entrance

■ More options will be added before a final pick.

Every accent in every direction clears its contrast floor, so none needs retuning before build.

- Two accents are display-only; the build notes each one so nobody sets body text in them.

At ₹6,000 from a brand people have not heard of yet, trust closes the sale.

1	Field Survey	In play, theme 1	Linear Wilderness kept as a theme
1	Quiet Architecture	In play, theme 1	Linear Wilderness kept as a theme
1	High Ground	In play, theme 1	Linear Wilderness kept as a theme
2	The Entrance	In play, theme 2	Carries the tagline at full weight

After 2	The Entrance with Linear Wilderness merged in	On hold, to be undone	Client wants the two themes kept separate

■ Open question: is theme 1 one of its three directions, or the idea on its own?

Five minutes with six people who match the buyer will tell us more than another round of options.
